MAKING IMMIGRANT RIGHTS REAL
Nonprofits and the Politics of Integration in San Francisco
ELS DE GRAAUW
$22.95 paper
“Els de Graauw engages with three fascinating cases of immigrant nonprofits’ involvement in city politics and program implementation. She brings to bear evidence from a well-executed, original survey of nonprofits, as well as incisive quotes from in-depth interviews. Insightful and well supported.”
—Paul G. Lewis, author of Shaping Suburbia

CONSTRUCTIVE FEMINISM
Women’s Spaces and Women’s Rights in the American City
DAPHNE SPAIN
$24.95 paper
“Occasionally a book comes along that fundamentally changes the way we understand the urban landscape. Constructive Feminism is one of those books. Daphne Spain shows the many ways that the Second Wave of feminism has challenged the gendered spaces that long denied women a rightful claim to the public sphere, and in doing so, she makes us see cities from an entirely new perspective.”
—Dennis R. Judd, coeditor of The City, Revisited

REFORMING NEW ORLEANS
The Contentious Politics of Change in the Big Easy
PETER F. BURNS & MATTHEW O. THOMAS
$22.95 paper
“Burns and Thomas open for full view what many ignored before August 2005: New Orleans has long been a poor, dangerous, racially divided, and struggling city. Reforming New Orleans provides a rich description of policy implementation before and after the storm and of what happened to education, public housing, and public safety after Katrina. This book breaks new ground.”
—Marion Orr, author of Black Social Capital

FROM FARM TO CANAL STREET
Chinatown’s Alternative Food Network in the Global Marketplace
VALERIE IMBRUCE
$21.95 paper
“Lively and accessible, the excellent From Farm to Canal Street offers validation of a food chain that the New York City government does not publicly acknowledge and that the city’s current land use policies could effectively wipe out by encouraging further upscale real estate development in Chinatown.”
—Lynn McCormick, Hunter College
